Welcome to BFREPA LIVE 26: James Baxter

Welcome to BFREPA Live 26, the best attended conference in the association's history, with 730 producers and associated trades joining us for tonight's gala dinner.

Every exhibitor stand in the hall has been sold, and this year we couldn't accommodate some companies wishing to exhibit.

The sector gathers at BFREPA Live to celebrate its achievements, to network and to swap ideas and innovations, and what is said here carries into the discussions that follow with packers, retailers and government. When we sit down with any of them in the months ahead, they will know how many producers we speak for, and a room this full makes that case for us before we say a word.

Tonight's gala dinner is also where we celebrate the best in the sector through the BFREPA Awards. This autumn the judges visited every entrant on farm across the country, which is no small undertaking, so every winner has been seen doing the job properly on their own farm. To everyone who entered, thank you. Putting your farm forward for that scrutiny is what keeps the standard high for all of us.

Today we are also putting the new environmental guidance booklet into producers' hands, 84 pages produced jointly with the Environment Agency and Natural Resources Wales. It is practical, producer-facing work of exactly the kind the association exists to do, and I hope every member takes a copy home.

An event of this size does not organise itself. I want to thank our sponsors and exhibitors, whose support makes the conference possible, and the small team who have spent months putting it together alongside everything else the association does through the year. The quality of the speakers on the programme reflects that effort, and I would urge everyone to make the most of the sessions as well as the hall.

Enjoy the day, take the time to talk to the exhibitors and to each other, and I look forward to seeing you tonight.

Welcome to BFREPA LIVE 26: Noble Foods

Noble Foods is delighted to support the 2026 BFREPA Conference, a vital forum for everyone passionate about British free-range eggs. This event is more than a meeting – it's a chance to share ideas and shape the future of the sector together.

The impacts of heightened global political tensions, combined with global weather volatility continue to make life as interesting as ever for UK free-range egg farmers. However demand for the UK free range Lion egg remains strong, despite this year's salmonella outbreak, linked to imported eggs from cage systems banned in the UK.

We can also expect plenty of changes in our legislative environment with the UK government seeking to ban colony cage production in the UK by 2030, the threat of fundamental changes to our organic standards as the government looks to align to EU rules and on-going tensions with the latest RSPCA proposals. So far Avian Influenza levels have been considerably lower than this time last year and long may that continue, however the other AI (Artificial Intelligence) is either the biggest threat to our species, or the greatest unlocker for innovation and productive improvements.

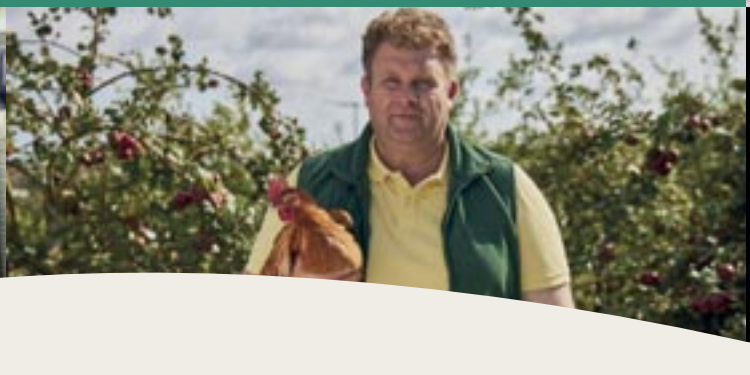

I look forward to seeing you all again and discussing these and many other topics as part of another excellent day hosted by BFREPA.

Partnering with over 200 farming families

Be part of the Noble family

With over 100 years in farming, Noble Foods understands what producers need: reliability, full support and a team who's with you every step of the way.

As the name behind the UK's best-selling egg brands, we're here and ready to support your business – today and for the long term.

Join us. Let's build your future together.

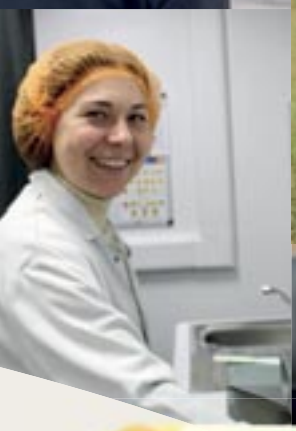

We offer the full package:

- Regular farm visits backed by decades of expertise – to support compliance, offer guidance and maximise flock performance
- High-quality pullets with finance options
- 14-day payment terms
- Organic, free-range and barn contracts available
- Comprehensive AI and Salmonella insurance
- End-of-flock carbon reporting and support
- New build advice

SPEAKER PROFILES

Gary Ford

BFREPA

Gary Ford is Head of Strategy and Producer Engagement at BFREPA, having started in post in November 2024. From a Worcestershire farming family, managing dairy, arable and pigs, Gary has spent his working life in the agricultural sector.

Starting his professional career at the NFU, he spent 19 years with the organisation covering a variety of roles, including Chief Poultry Adviser, supporting members through a range of issues.

Gary is passionate about poultry and supporting producers. Working closely with BFREPA members and helping them to succeed is one of his key priorities.

Barney Kay

Agriculture Director, Noble Foods

Barney Kay is Agriculture Director at Noble Foods, which he joined in July 2024. He leads the agricultural function within the Consumer Foods business and is responsible for the company's network of more than 200 producers, its team of Regional Performance Managers and the development of its agricultural sustainability strategy.

He joined Noble Foods from Amber Real Estates, part of Boparan Private Office, where he was Agriculture Strategy and Supply Chain Director and supported the business's transition to higher welfare chicken production. Before that he was Managing Director of Agriculture at Pilgrim's UK, running one of the largest pig farming operations in the country.

Clara Hagen

Secretary General, EUWEP

Clara will take delegates through the work of the European organisation and the issues it deals with, and developments at EU level on animal welfare, animal transport and other current topics.

Clara Hagen has been Secretary General of EUWEP since 2019. EUWEP is the European umbrella organisation for egg processors, through the European Egg Processors Association (EEPA), and for egg graders and traders, through EEPTA.

Ian Lowery

Crowshall Veterinary Services

Ian Lowery BVetMed MRCVS is a Partner and UKAS Technical Manager at Crowshall Veterinary Services in Norfolk, which provides veterinary consultancy and diagnostic services across the poultry industry, and an adviser to the British Egg Industry Council (BEIC).

He qualified from the Royal Veterinary College in 2006 and began his career in rural mixed practice in Matlock, Derbyshire. In 2007 he joined Westpoint Veterinary Practice, concentrating on dairy work, beef herd health planning and gamebirds, before returning to Norfolk to join Crowshall in October 2009. His work centres on population medicine, flock health planning and cost-effective veterinary care for livestock.

Ian Jones

Hafren Veterinary Group

Ian Jones MA VetMB MRCVS is a Director of Hafren Veterinary Group in Powys, Mid Wales, where he works in large-animal and poultry practice.

He has presented to egg producers in Wales through Farming Connect podcasts and webinars, covering avian influenza, biosecurity, poultry shed lighting and the challenges facing new entrants to the egg industry.

Anna Powell

Senior Key Account Lead, Alltech E-CO_2

Anna Powell has more than 20 years' experience working in the agri-data and sustainability sector. As Senior Key Account Lead at Alltech E-CO_2, she works with livestock and arable supply chains to measure, manage and improve environmental performance.

Over the past year, Anna has played a leading role in delivering carbon footprint assessments for BFREPA layer and pullet producers. With a practical, farmer-focused approach, she works closely with producers to support the carbon assessment process and help them make the most of the insights generated.

Anna lives in Herefordshire with her husband and three young sons.

Andrew Shackell

Producer, Penllyn Estate

Andrew has worked for the same family at Penllyn Estate for 46 years. He started picking potatoes there in his school holidays at the age of 14 and joined the estate farm full time after agricultural college. He now oversees the day-to-day management of the farm, which runs 1,000 ewes, 420 hectares of arable and 40,000 hens. The estate moved out of cattle following a review of the business, and eggs were chosen as the replacement. The first hens arrived in 2019, and the farm supplies Noble Foods through Bowlers. The estate also has 45 rental properties, holiday lets, and a busy farm shop and restaurant. The farm shop, which sells the estate's eggs, is a previous winner of the BFREPA Local Food Business of the Year award. The farm also runs pick-your-own pumpkins and dahlias and hosts school educational visits.

Carly Scott

Director, BirdBox

Carly Scott is a director at BirdBox, where she leads research and development (R&D) and product development.

She has worked with laying hen farmers and the egg supply chain for over ten years, developing practical, on-farm technology shaped by the people who use it every day. With a background in genetics and medical science, Carly joined the agriculture sector in 2013, drawn by the connections between human, animal and ecosystem health.

Nick Allen

CEO, British Egg Industry Council (BEIC)

Nick Allen joined the British Egg Industry Council in April 2025 as Chief Executive. He was previously CEO of Berry Gardens, a co-operative of soft and stone fruit growers with a turnover of over £300 million. Berry Gardens supplied fruit from its UK grower members and overseas partners to all major UK retailers, as well as the food service and wholesale sectors.

Nick spent over 20 years with Berry Gardens, joining from the accountancy firm KPMG in 2003. During his time there, he held senior roles as Finance Director and Chief Operating Officer before becoming CEO in 2019.

Our aim is to provide environmentally-friendly, highly efficient equipment solutions designed to provide the optimum environment for your animals. Our systems offer different levels of automation. This acts as a great aid to the stock person, as well as improving the efficiency of the unit. For laying birds, for example, we are able to automate everything from the feeding times of the birds, to ensuring the eggs arrive at the packing station on time, thus avoiding costly delays.

Based in North Yorkshire close to the A1 motorway, we are well-placed to supply our customers from the North of Scotland to the far South of England, with area sales managers covering each region providing a local point of contact. Our experienced sales team offers support before and after the planning stages, as well as during the project implementation, ensuring the requirements of the customer are met at every stage.

Noble Foods
SINCE 1920

At Noble Foods, we process spent hens, chickens and broiler breeders to meet the highest standards required by our customers and the RSPCA, so concern for hen welfare is central to everything we do.

The care with which we handle day old chicks is matched only by our treatment of spent hens at the end of their laying life.

All our facilities are equipped with the most modern processing equipment available and are accredited to the BRC Double A Grade standard.

We use an RSPCA Assured national catching and collection network, while our dedicated fleet of GPS-tracked modular collection vehicles deliver directly into our processing plant and butchery operation. All journey times meet the standards of RSPCA Assured.

Rettenmaier UK & Ireland

The role of fibre in layer nutrition has caught the attention of nutritionists in recent years. Well-known feeding guidelines emphasize the importance of fibre to develop the digestive tract, improved gizzard size, improve faecal quality, reduced litter moisture. In the laying phase a minimum fibre level is required to support functioning of the GIT, nutrient digestibility, gut health and to limit feather pecking.

A Holistic Approach to Total Perfomance

Beyond additives — F1 Performance Pack targets the four biological systems that drive real flock productivity.

LIVER | GUT | REPRODUCTIVE | MUSCULOSKELETAL

Performance in poultry isn't driven by a single input — it's the result of multiple biological systems working in harmony. F1 Performance Pack is integrated solution designed to support all four.

Delivered through a precision combination of science-backed actives: fully active Vitamin D metabolite source, lysophospholipids, and encapsulated nutritional technologies — working precisely where they're needed most.

4 SYSTEMS. ONE HOLISTIC APPROACH.

Liver Metabolism
Optimises nutrient processing and metabolic efficiency at the source

Gut Efficiency
Improves absorption and controls pathogenic pressure throughout the gut

Reproductive Output
Supports egg quality, production rate, and persistency

Calcium Utilisation
Enhances shell quality and musculoskeletal strength

MEASURABLE RESULTS

- Better shell quality
- Improved persistency
- Enhanced feed efficiency
- Flock resilience

One pack. System-wide performance.

Replace multiple inputs with a single, science-backed solution.

Help your hens keep their eggshells stronger for longer

As hens age, vitamin D conversion slows and shell quality, bone strength and egg output follow. Panbonis®, a source of glycosylated $1,25(OH)_2D_3$ naturally found in Solanum glaucophyllum leaves, supports calcium and phosphorus metabolism to help maintain shell quality and skeletal integrity through extended laying cycles.

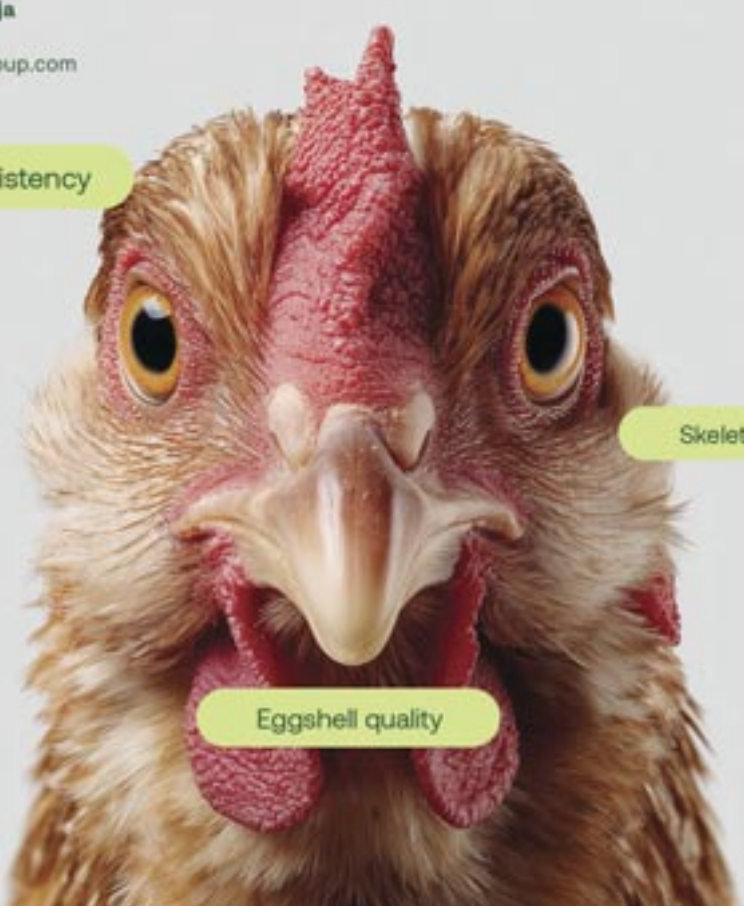

Plant-based vitamin D support for longer, more productive laying cycles ↗
